On June 24, 2024, the Southwestern University of Finance and Economics (SWUFE) held a graduation ceremony for the Class of 2024 at the Liulin Campus Gymnasium in Chengdu. The event commenced with the university's anthem and featured a performance titled "My Appointment with 2035." Chairman Zhao Jianjun presided over the ceremony, emphasizing the university's ethos of serving the public good with perseverance and urging graduates to carry forward this spirit. President Li Yongqiang delivered an inspiring speech, challenging the graduates to embrace their role as the "Nation's Strong Generation," and to align their personal aspirations with national goals. Vice President Shi Daimin announced the degree conferment decisions, and Vice Chairman Sun Dianming recognized the 2024 Outstanding Graduates and other awardees. Student representative Wang Yizhuo expressed gratitude and pledged to uphold SWUFE's ethos. A highlight was Chairman Zhao's handover of the flag to the 26th Graduate Volunteer Teaching Team, urging service where needed most. The ceremony concluded with the graduating class swearing to uphold SWUFE's values and contribute to the nation's rejuvenation and global progress.

The Southwestern University of Finance and Economics (SWUFE) successfully hosted the 2024 International Symposium on Financial Innovation and Award Ceremony in Chengdu, gathering global scholars to explore the convergence of generative artificial intelligence with financial innovation. President Li Yongqiang and Vice President Yin Qingshuang attended, with academic leaders presiding. Li Yongqiang emphasized the importance of the English academic journal Financial Innovation in leading discussions on Chinese issues and contributing to global knowledge. The symposium included keynote speeches by international academics on topics such as trustworthy AI and asset tokenization.

During the event, appointment letters were presented to the first cohort of the journal's young editorial board members, and awards were given to scholars for their contributions. The Young Editorial Board, consisting of 22 young scientists from 12 countries, held its first meeting to strategize the journal's future. Vice President Li Zhisheng also met with foreign experts to discuss future cooperation.

The symposium, supported by the Financial Innovation journal, aims to enhance its academic influence, bolster SWUFE's international standing in finance, and support China's technological self-reliance.
